Mode of Construction.

In construction and appearance these lander cars are peculiar. They are driven motor engines, just like principle, but the principle but the principle but the principle. those of automobiles in principle, but much larger and more powerful. The engine machinery is stowed away in small space in the "bow" of the car, which comes, to a point like the Aberdeen bow of a freighting steamship. This sharppointed prow and a roof sloping downward to it, like the deck of a racing yacht, make high speed possible with little wind resistance and at the same time give a novel appearance to these land craft.

JORDAN STAKE AT LAGOON.

Record Crowd From That Locality Visits Pleasure Resort.

Fifteen hundred persons from Jordan stake enjoyed yesterday afternoon and evening at Lagoon. It was the biggest annual outing in point of numbers in the history of the stake.

The excursion was run by the Denver & Rio Grande road yesterday morning, and the enormous crowd of excursionlists reached the city before noon. They were transferred direct to a special Lagoon train and were carried to the grounds. During the afternoon and early evening a programme was given on the old dancing pavilion. The rest of the day was devoted for the most part to boating lounging about in the pleasant shade and lunching. People came from a number of the smaller towns south of the city, and who had not seen one another for a long time. Renewal of acquaintances between such was a frequent episode on the LONG TRIP IN AUTO.

Edward Arlington Expected in Salt Lake in a Few Days.

Edward Arlington is rapidly journeying in his auto from Denyer to Salt Lake City, and when he arrives here he will have traveled over $6,000 miles in the machine. He is on his way from New York to the cities of the Pacific coast.

Mr. Arlington bought the automobile in New York, and in it he has made thirty-three trips back and forth between New York and Chicago. He also made trips from Kansas City and Omhha to Chicago, and from there to New York. He has stopped at nearly every large garage in the east. He has announced that he will spend several days in Salt Lake.

PERSONAL.

Looks Good.

While overcoats were not essential to comfort yesterday, yet the weather was much more pleasant than during the earlier days of the week. Dr. Hyatt declared that he high point was 91 degrees, a marked falling off of no less than 3 degrees from the high point was 91 degrees, and the high point was 91 degrees from the high point was 91 degrees, and that he shad to the gayetty of yesterday, there was more or less breeze throughout the singed citizens.

The prediction for today is generally fair, with probably cooler weather.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

An appreciative audience witnessed the opening performance of "The Great Diamond Robbery," as presented by the Bittner company at the Grand last night. While the play has not the dramatic force of "Northern Lights," which was given at this house the first part of the week, yet there are sufficient dramatic situations to please the most exacting in sensational drama. The play goes again tonigt and tomorrow night with the usual Saturday matinee.

Police After Cutting Scrape.

CONSUMPTION IS HEAVY SEVERAL BEING FINISHED DANIEL MAURER INJURED

TO YOUNG WOMAN.

After the cutting Bishop left hurriedly Several persons had seen the trouble. When they saw Maurer bleeding they followed Bishop, who ran through the north end of the Rio Grande yards to Second South street. There he tried, according to his pursuers, to hide in a vacant lot. George Bates and Charles Jones stuck close to his heels, and when he finally entered the Vermillion Pharmacy, 511 West Second South street, they pointed him out to Patrolman Morris. That officer hastened with his man to the scene of the stabbing. At 690 West First South street, Maurer's home, Morris found Police Captain Burbidge. Sergeant Roberts, Maurer and Willfams positively identified the prisoner, who kept maintaining he was not the man, though his hand bore a cut from his own knife blade and his pursuers said they had never lost sight of him. Friends met him at the station and he finally acknowledged he had done the cutting, claiming self-defense. His unwillingness to get the girl's name mixed with the affair is given as his reason for denying his identity.

Southern Pacific company, the Ogden & Lucin Railroad company and George Beckham, respondents, in which the findng was for the defendants.

Beckham, respondents, in which the finding was for the defendants.

The action was to recover demages for personal injuries which Hern alleged he sustained at Hogup. Box Elder county, Nov. S. 1805, through the negligence and carelessness of the defendants. If asserted that while standing on the Hogup platform, waiting for a train to take him to Lakeside, an engine, which was left standing on the track, without an engineer or fireman being in its cab, got under motion and bumped into the platform, knocking it over and throwing him into a fire, in which he received severe burns and other injuries.

The evidence given at the trial in the lower court showed that Hern had been working for the company, but had quit, and that he foltered along the Lacin cutoff for two days before attempting to take a train. He claimed he spent those two days trying to get on a train that would take him to Lakeside. Demurrers of the Ogden & Luein Railread company and of George Beckham were sustained and the case was dismissed as to them.

The Southern Pacific company contended that Hern had no business on its property, and that had he really wanted to take a train he could have done so before the alleged accident happened, as there were six passenger trains run between Hogup and Lakeside during the two days he said he spent waiting for a train to come along.

The opinion was written by Justice Straup and concurred in by Chief Justice Bartch and Justice McCarty.
